2. The administrative phase is aimed at assessing the extradition request by the Minister of Justice for the purpose of deciding, in particular with regard to guarantees that may arise, if it can be pursued or whether it should be flatly rejected for reasons of political order, or opportunity, or convenience.
3. The judicial phase is the exclusive jurisdiction of the Court of Appeal and is intended to decide, with a hearing of the interested party, on the granting of extradition based on the legal condition of its form and substance, with no evidence being allowed on the allegations made against the extradited.

Article 47º

Representation of the Requesting State at Extradition Proceedings

1. The foreign State that makes the request to Cabo Verde can be granted permission to participate in the judicial phase of the extradition process, through a representative appointed for the purpose.
2. If the request for participation does not accompany the extradition request, then it must be addressed to the Court of Appeal through the Attorney General's Office.
3. The request for participation is subject to the decision of the Minister of Justice on its admissibility, preceding information from the Attorney General's Office, and may be refused if reciprocity is not guaranteed.
4. Participation, as referred to in paragraph 1, is intended to enable the requesting State direct contact with the process, in compliance with the rules on judicial secrecy, and provide the court with the elements that they request.

Article 48º

1. The arrest of the person should cease and be replaced by another coercive measure if the final decision of the Court of Appeal is not rendered within 65 days following the date of the arrest.
2. If it is not admissible to use coercive measures that do not constitute detention, the period referred to above is extended up to a maximum of 25 days, within which, the decision of the Court of Appeal must be given.

Principle

The criminal proceedings or the continuation of procedures initiated in Cabo Verde for acts which constitute crimes can be delegated according to the foreign State that accepts it under the conditions referred to in the following articles.

Article 86º

Special Conditions

1. The delegation of criminal proceedings or their continuation in a foreign State depends on the verification of the general requirements of this law and also the following special conditions:
 - a) That the act integrates crime under Cape Verdean law and under the law of that State;
 - b) The penal sentence leading to the deprivation of the offender's liberty is a maximum period of less than one year or, in the case of a monetary penalty, the maximum amount is not less than the amount equivalent to 300.000$00 (three hundred thousand escudos);

 - a) When the suspect or the accused are to fulfil a sentence in the foreign State for a more serious crime than the one committed in Cabo Verde;
 - b) When, in accordance with the law of the foreign state, the extradition of the suspect or defendant cannot be obtained, or, where requested, it is denied and they have their habitual residence in that State;
 - c) When the suspect or accused are extradited to a foreign State by other facts, and it is expected that the delegation of the criminal case ensures better social reintegration.

MINISTÉRIO PÚBLICO
PROCURADORIA GERAL DA REPÚBLICA

3. The delegation may also be carried out regardless of the agent's nationality, when Cabo Verde considers that the presence of the accused at the trial cannot be ensured, but may still be ensured in the foreign State.
4. Exceptionally, the delegation can be implemented independent of the requirement of habitual residence when the circumstances require, in particular, so as to avoid instances when the trial may not take either in Cabo Verde or abroad.

Article 87º

Delegation Procedure

1. The legal court with jurisdiction in a dispute values the need for delegation at the request of the State Prosecutor, the suspect, or the defendant, with an adversarial hearing, in which the reasons to grant or deny this form of international cooperation are set out.
2. The State Prosecutor and the suspect or the defendant can respond to the request referred to in paragraph 1 within 10 days, when they are not the requesting party.
3. After the response or after the time period for the same, the judge decides within eight days, to uphold or refuse the request.
4. If the suspect or the accused are abroad, they can, by themselves or through their legal representative or attorney, ask for the delegation of the criminal prosecution directly or through a foreign State authority or Cape Verdean consular authority, who will forward them to the Central Authority.
5. The judicial ruling that considers the request is subject to appeal.
6. The final decision in favor of the request determines the suspension of the limitation period, as well as the continuation of criminal proceedings, without prejudice to actions and urgent steps, and is transmitted through the Attorney General's Office for consideration by the Minister of Justice, with a copy being sent of all the claims that have been brought forward.

Article 88º

2. The suspension of the limitation of criminal prosecution remains until the foreign State closes the proceedings, including the implementation of the sentence.
3. However, Cabo Verde recovers the right to prosecute if:
 - a) The foreign State communicates that it cannot lead the delegated procedure to the end;
 - b) There is supervening knowledge of any impediment to the request for delegation, under the terms of this diploma.

3. At the time the sentenced person is surrendered, the foreign State shall be informed both of the duration of the deprivation of liberty served in Cabo Verde and the duration of the deprivation of liberty that remains to be served.
